STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The annual ball of the Nealey Rifles is a coming event of much social importance. It will take place in Lewiston City Hall, November 14th.

The yearly ball of the Lewiston police is assigned for Tuesday, October 23. Great preparations are being made to render it one of the most successful affairs since the institution of the practice.

The Auburn policemen have their annual ball on November 9. If prognostications fail not, it will be one of the most brilliant events that Auburn Hall ever saw. Wilson's full orchestra will furnish the music.

Harvey F. Sawyer, formerly of Auburn, who was under bonds for embezzlement from the firm of M. A. Jewell & Co., of Portland, was recently killed by an accident in Philadelphia, as a dispatch received in Lewiston, Wednesday night, announces.

Charles E. King, a butcher in Auburn, was butchering a hog, the other day, when the porker made a grab at his leg, inflicting a deep wound just below the knee. Mr. King thought the swine was nearly dead, and was in the act of moving the prostrate animal about, preparatory to the scalding tub.

Andrew F. Warren, boss carpenter in Edwin O. Wells' door, sash and blind factory, Lewiston, had his right hand shockingly mutilated by a circular saw, Friday. A deep wound was cut right across the palm, all but severing it. The injured man was taken to a physician's residence, and after the hurt had been dressed, was conveyed to his home in Auburn. It is feared that the hand may have to be amputated. It was only a short time ago that Mr. Warren lost two fingers of the same hand in the same manner.

Cumberland.

The cabbage crop at Cape Elizabeth will be larger this year than ever before. It is estimated that there were between five and six thousand tons raised the past season.

A youth, calling himself H. W. Hayes, swindled about twenty-five Bridgton merchants, last week, according to the News, by promising to have their business cards printed on the margin of the large lithograph of the village, and put up in the [illegible] property was $1,200.

Essex.

The sheriff of Knox county went to Gloucester, Mass., Wednesday, after one Michael Shady who left the State, about a year ago, while under bonds for trial for biting off Patrick Foley's thumb, reports the Opinion.

Hancock.

A pair of two-year-old steers belonging to Mr. Daniel Cornish, of Bowdoinham, which had been at pasture all summer, became so wild that it became necessary to shoot them.

Somerset.

A reunion of the Stevens family occurred at the residence of Daniel E. Stevens, in Smithfield, on last Friday evening. About two hundred were present and among the number was Mr. Hosea Stevens now in the 105th year of his age. He has always voted the Republican ticket since the party was first formed while nearly all his sons vote with the Democratic party. Mr. Stevens is the father of twenty-one children, a majority of whom are alive.

York.

Conductor Madgett, who runs between Sanford and Portland on the Portland, [illegible] a very pretty young lady [illegible] on the train [illegible] Friday night [illegible] His wife is a pretty woman, refined and well informed, but she does not yet attempt to speak English. Mutsu himself, a highly-cultured man, has travelled extensively, and has a vein of original humor which adds piquancy to his conversation. He is quite a linguist, and can speak English language with tolerable fluency. He and his wife have made a good impression in Washington, and are rapidly becoming popular in society.

Speaking of the princesses at the Berlin Court, London "Truth" says: "Princess Sophie is the best looking of Emperor Frederick's daughters but she is not exactly pretty. She has a pleasing face, however, and a soft, simple manner. Victoria is decidedly 'German.' Margarita is plain. But she may change. The Italians won't like the German match. The Crown Prince of Greece is making inquiries and they find that German influence connected with his wife at Athens, they will try to let him reign. He has $40,000 a year and a country place in the Morea which his father got the nation to buy for him. The Duke of Sparta is what would be called at Woolwich a decent fellow. Compared with the Cadets' School at Athens, he runs to and fro in Europe and the Court to Great Age as the last time [illegible] every second to see what time does the world be ground by the wheels.

Short Cuts.

Robert J. Burdette the humorist, received a preaching license from the Baptist church.

It is said that Mr. Joseph Jefferson more than 3,000 head of cattle, most thoroughbreds, on his big Louisiana plantation.

The three elephants in Central Park, New York, were weighed last week to see whether they fall off any in flesh during the coming winter. The three tipped the scales at 20, 150 pounds.

An old observer tells that one's eyebrows are an infallible guide to his age. No matter, he says, how young looking a person may be, if his eyebrows have lost gloss and do not lie flat and smooth, he is no longer a young man.

A street "fiddler" in Omaha was given a $5 gold piece in mistake for a nickel, by an absent-minded person who was listening to his music. The giver did not discover his error, but the player did, and honestly returned the money.

Denman Thompson recently received a handsome epistolary tribute to his play, "The Old Homestead," from S. Charles, author of the poem "Thanksgiving Sixty Years Ago." Mr. Churchill, who is nearly 80 years old, is a resident of New York city.

Minister Vivas, the new plenipotentiary from Chili, who is staying at New York, cannot speak a word of English. His presence in that city is owing to the preaching culmination of American efforts to introduce a gigantic railroad scheme on the western coast of South America.

A doctor in an Ohio town, who lives on a street leading to the cemetery, has a novel sign. Usually the sign presents his name and office hours, but when a funeral passes he turns it over and then the following legend is displayed: "Not a patient; I cure all who follow my directions."

Those Big Offers.—Snap Editor—I have called, sir, to ask you to insert a line to the effect that I have just refused an offer of $300 a week.

Accommodating Editor—With pleasure. Is there anything else I can do for you, sir?

"That's all, unless you have a dime about you."

Benjamin P. Hutchinson, who has been making things so lively for Chicago wheat dealers, began his business career in Massachusetts. His first start in business was as a clerk for a North Reading trader.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS

For President:

BENJAMIN HARRISON,

OF INDIANA.

For Vice-President:

LEVI P. MORTON,

OF NEW YORK.

FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS
For Electors at Large:
HORACE H. SHEAF, of Portland
SAMUEL N. CAMPBELL, of Cherryfield
First District: MARK P. WENTWORTH
Second District: F. E. SPAULDING
Third District: ALBERT W. GILMAN
Fourth District: LAMBERT KANEY

We occasionally see it stated that the South has got rid of the old sectional spirit of war days. The following infamous origin, from the Chattanooga News, shows how much truth can be placed in such statements:

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of Uncle Tom's Cabin, is dying from softening of the brain. We never met her, but judging from her detestable volume we can be congratulated that Mrs. Stowe ever had any brain to soften.

The boys in the Adams Academy at Quincy have not imbibed the political faith of their teacher, Professor William Everett, the Mugwump. On Tuesday last Dr. Everett addressed the scholars upon the issues of the campaign. After the close of the argument the boys assembled and ascertained the standing of the school upon the question, and it stood 81 in favor of Harrison and Morton to 19 for Cleveland and Thurman out of 80 scholars. Prof. Everett and President Hyde might exchange words of condolence.

In a letter to a Washington correspondent received a few days ago, General Harrison resents the former's indignation over the circulation of the "dollar a day" fund by the Democratic organs in the professedly "educational" campaign by saying: "Has it not occurred to you that, in this issue, it is about which our express surprise in Democratic friends are only equaling the which has so much disturbed them in their management, namely, their business connection with the interests of the people?"

The rendering of [illegible] Mr. Harrison upon a doubtful subject when, in his letter of yesterday, he consulted the spirit and purpose of the Presidential office. Grammatically speaking. But it is not natural to speak of [illegible] in that way.

It appears that even the [illegible] of the executive power has been worked by President Cleveland until it has become a habit. Some contemporary should be patient for a few weeks longer until the people will ring the doctrine of statesmanship.

Ex-Senator T. W. Ferry of Michigan was one of General Harrison's callers, he having recently returned from abroad to take part in the campaign, has gone to Indiana to fill several appointments. The Republicans are apparently safe in Indiana, he said after consulting with the officers of the State committee and the prospects brightens all around. The campaign [illegible] in Michigan and I think there is no uncertainty as to the result. The Republicans are sure of 10,000 majority in my opinion.

At Wheeling, W. Va., the most disgusting and criminal abuse of the postal service by the Democratic postmaster has come to light. Hon. W. A. Wilson, candidate in addition to being chairman of the Republican State Committee, is a sunday school superintendent. His mission hours and duties for the sunday he were crowded to accommodate and were not delivered for more than one month because the postmaster thought they were Republican campaign documents. The conduct of the postal service under the present Administration is the most outrageous proof yet that the American people have been compelled to submit to at the corrupt dictate of Republicanism.

One of the little organs for a week says that the Cleveland administration is covering a letter more like a Republican president's address than that from a worth a great deal more. It is the best, not the cheapest, that the country wants. Boston Herald.

This sounds very different from the talk the Democratic organs were making four years ago when they were shouting for economy in the administration of the government. They now [illegible] the people of the country for the support of this bogus reform Administration some $2,000,000 a month or $24,000,000 a year more than it did under the last Republican administration. During the last year alone seven hundred and ninety nine new office have been created with annual salaries amounting to nearly $900,000. The people are contrasting this extravagance with the economical professions made in the last campaign and in it find evidence of the fact that the Democratic party never keeps its pledges.

Two facts have come to light in Indiana within a few days which show to what desperate straits the Democratic party in that State is reduced, says the Philadelphia Press. The party's State committee has persistently claimed that it was not circulating the lies told about General Harrison's connection with the railroad strike of 1877, but a large bundle of Democratic campaign circulars which were delivered by mistake at Republican headquarters in Indianapolis last Saturday contained 5,000 of these scurrilous attacks. The other fact is that the Democrats have spies to take down the words of the Rev. Mr. Haines, who preaches in the Presbyterian church of which General Harrison is a member, to see whether they can not light upon some phrase which will do them the same service Burchard's notorious three "Rs" did in 1884. It is to these depths that Chairman Brice's campaign of intellectual rank and to these disreputable methods that the advocates of free trade have had recourse.

The Portland Evening Express says: It is said that the first edition of the Democratic campaign book is exhausted. The burden of misstatement which it carried was enough to make it tired.

The New York Independent shows the pointlessness of one of the Harper's Weekly cartoons thus:

"The first page of Harper's Weekly for September 29 is occupied by a cartoon designed to show that the tariff bears heavily on the laboring man in the onerous taxes he has to pay on the tools he uses as well as on the necessaries of life. It includes in its exhibit a saw marked with a duty of 40 per cent., and an axe and a hatchet each paying 45 per cent. The inference the reader is expected to draw is, of course, that these utensils cost the laboring man 40 and 45 per cent. more than they would cost him if he could buy them of the foreign manufacturer free of duty. But the fact is that the hatchets which cost $4 a dozen in England are made and sold in America for $3 35; axes which cost $9 a dozen in England are made and sold here for $9 50; and saws which are listed in the English market at $6 are sold here for $5. Shovels which cost $7.48 across the sea are bought here at $5. These facts show how unfounded is the claim that the American workingman is being ground to powder by the tariff."

As the day of the election approaches the Democratic organs in the Northern States increase their protestations that Cleveland is not a free trader. We invite their attention to the following from the Memphis (Tenn.) Appeal:

We lay down concisely and, we trust, clearly the Democratic doctrine of free trade, which is as old as the birth of the party. The Democratic party was always known as the party that strictly construed the Constitution, and was therefore opposed to the levy or collection of a tax for any other purpose than the support of the Government, and was equally as rigidly opposed to the appropriation of public moneys for any other purpose, its motto in its first and most notable campaign being "free trade and sailors' rights." The doubtful States have long been familiar with the fact that the Democratic party is the free trade party, and they know that any attempt to recondite it to protection in any form, shape, character or degree would be an abandonment of principle that would, and of right ought to, cover it with obloquy and disgrace.

This is a plain declaration of the whole truth, namely, that the Democratic party stands for nothing whatever if not for free trade. The organs that are trying to disguise this fact simply desire to deceive the people until after the election.

A Significant Contrast.

A day or two since we took occasion to expose the demagogical character of a recent interview with Postmaster General Dickinson, who gave publicity to certain false statements regarding the New England States. Since then he has reiterated the assertion, the object being to arouse sectional prejudice, which is not electioneering work for a Government official to engage in, and we quote this morning the patriotic words of Gen Harrison, who although calling no names seems to have had the utterances of the Postmaster General in mind. He said

"I am one of the oldest Republicans, my first Presidential vote was given to the first Republican candidate for that office (applause), and it has always been a source of profound gratification to me that, in peace and war, a high spirit of patriotism and devotion to our country has always pervaded and dominated the party. (Cheers.) When, during the civil war, the clouds hung low, disasters thickened and the future was crowded with uncanny fears, never did any Republican convention assemble without declaring its faith in the ultimate triumph of our cause. (Great cheering.) And now with a broad patriotism that embraces and regards the interests of all the States, it advocates policies that will develop and unite all communities in the friendly and profitable interchange of commerce as well as in a lasting political union. (Applause.) These great Western states will not respond to the attempt to excite prejudice against New England. We advocate measures that are as broad as our national domain, that are calculated to distil their equal blessing upon all the land. (Cheers.)

The people of the great West recognize and value the great contribution which those commonwealths about Plymouth Rock have made to the civilization, material growth and manhood of our Western states. (Cheers.) We are not envious of the prosperity of New England. We rejoice in it. We believe that the protective policy developed her great manufacturing institutions and made her rich, and we do not doubt that a continuance of that policy will produce the same results in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana. (Cheers.) We are not content to remain wholly agricultural States in our relations either to New England or old England. (Applause.) We believe that in all the great Western states there are mineralds in the soil, and energy and skill in the brains and arms of our people that will yet so multiply and develop our manufacturing industries as to give us a nearer home market for much of the products of our soil (cheers), and for that great surplus which now and always perhaps we shall not consume at home we think a New England market better than a foreign market." (Enthusiastic and prolonged cheering.)

Commenting on the above the Boston Herald says: New Englanders will observe the wide contrast between the opinions of Harrison, the Republican, and Dickinson, the Democrat. One looks to the entire Nation, the other to his little province. To the one all Americans are his fellow countrymen; the patriotism of the other is bounded by the narrow limits of his state and section. The contrast between Harrison and Dickinson is not fortuitous nor exceptional, it is the contrast between the Republican party and the Democratic party. Dickinson follows Democratic traditions as naturally in assailing New England as Harrison follows Republican traditions in defending her against the sectional hatred of her slanderers.

Why I Am a Republican.

TEN REASONS GIVEN BY MRS. J. ELLEN FOSTER.

I am a Republican by hereditary influence past environments and present convictions. Because:

1. The Republican party in the past has stood for all that is liberal and progressive in legislation.

2. The Republican party freed the slave.

3. The pronounced and emphatic legislation on moral questions has come most largely from Republican legislators.

4. The Republican party has always been the champion of protection—protection to the citizen, protection to the negro, protection to the ballot-box, protection to the wage earner, protection to the wage payer, and now, right in the line of past professions and performances, it declares for protection to the home.

5. The friends of the liquor interest in the ranks of the Republican party are few and far between.

6. The Republican party has stood for the most advanced temperance legislation which the people demanded and in very many States has made open declarations of enmity against the saloon.

7. The Republican party deals with conditions of the temperance work, not theories. The ideal is not always instantly attainable; it is better that the majority of the great, struggling, groaning mass should gain one inch of altitude than that a few should, by separating into a "holier-than-thou" party, attain supernal heights.

8. The Republican party, by reason of its powerful position in this question of its pledges, while the so-called prohibition party, even if the sincerity of its pledges be admitted, cannot, for many years at least, fulfill any one of them.

9. The best types of American manhood are represented in the persons of Benjamin Harrison and Levi P. Morton.

10. The record of the Republican party proves it to be made up of men out of whose brain and heart reforms have come in the past and are likely to come in the future.

News About the Capital.

Opium Not Free in the Senate Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 By an error made by the committee in preparing for publication the additions to the free list contained in the substitute tariff bill reported by the Senate Committee on Finance, it was made to appear that opium for smoking had been free of duty As a matter of fact the substitute bill expressly prohibits the importation of such opium The committee also desire to have corrected the impression which prevails, to the effect that it had added eggs to the free list. Eggs are made free of duty by the existing law and the substitute bill does not change that provision, although the matter is now under consideration and undoubtedly an amendment will be reported from the committee imposing a duty on eggs

After Judge Thurman left the Supreme Court, to-day he returned to the Ebbitt House and spent a quiet evening, only a few friends being received. The President, it is said, will attend the reception General Ransoma was made chairman of the reception committee

FIFTIETH CONGRESS—First Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON Oct 8 Mr Blair offered a resolution which was laid over till to-morrow, calling on the President for information as to the trial (for treason) conviction and execution in Canada, on November 16th 1885, of Louis David Riel who claimed to have been a naturalized citizen of the United States, and whether the proceedings in the case were according to due process of law including the presentation of the fact of Riel's citizenship and the defence of insanity

The Senate then at 12 40, proceeded to the consideration of the tariff bill the reading in full being dispensed with and the Senate substitute being ordered to be first considered. The Senate was addressed by Mr Allison

Referring to the question of tobacco Mr Allison said he had not been very vigorous and urgent in removing the tax on that article but he supposed there was practically a universal sentiment in favor of taking off the tax He had yielded and the Committee on Finance had yielded to that sentiment The only difference between the House bill and Senate bill in regard to tobacco was that the Senate bill made a reduction of $1 00 a thousand on manufactured cigars and took off the tax of a dollar on retail dealers in tobacco

He then discussed the question of abolishing the tax on alcohol for use in the arts and argued that there was no practical difficulty in preventing frauds in connection with that matter The House bill reduced the sugar duty 10 per cent and the Senate bill 30 per cent Even with the latter reduction the duty on sugar would remain at 11 per cent ad valorem sugar was an essential to every household as bread and if there was any article that should have a low rate of duty it was sugar He argued that the effect of the House bill to repeal the sugar schedule would be to legislate six millions a year into the pockets of the sugar trust at 12 per cent on their capital and take that amount out of the pockets of the people, and yet the Republican party is denounced and the substitute denounced as favoring trusts

In comparing the two bills Mr Allison said the Senate bill was a clear and distinct measure of protection to American industries while the House bill was a long step in the direction of what is commonly known as free trade. In conclusion he said it was the purpose of Senators on the side of the chamber to proceed as fast as possible with the discussion of the bill

Mr Vance one of the minority members of the Finance Committee, next addressed the Senate

The House bill he said made a total reduction of $24 000 000 but how had the favored classes responded to that fair proposition Every Republican member of the House if he had voted against it and it had been rejected by an equally unanimous vote of the Republican Senators on the Finance Committee, and now, he asked, did the Senate substitute divide the reduction of duties as between the Government and people on the one side and the favored class on the other?

It took off the tax on tobacco $35,000 000 and the tax on alcohol used in the arts $7,000,000, and reduced the duty on sugar, nearly all of which came amounting in all to $65 000,000, were pure revenue In other words the Senate bill took it from the government for every $1 that it took from the manufacturers Mr Vance proceeded to discuss in detail the provisions of both bills in the various schedule arguing that the House bill had in view the interests of the people and of the government and that the Senate bill was specially in the interest of manufacturers and the favored classes

The Democratic party he said had for the last ten years made an honest effort to reduce the taxes to the requirements of the government and had been at every step thwarted by the Republican party The entire body of the Republican members in the House have resisted, at every step every bill the Democrats have tried to pass for several years and were able, with the help of a handful of Democrats, to defeat every such bill and those Democrats who aided the Republicans to defeat tariff reduction were applauded to the skies and made patriots and moral heroes

For ten years past no Republican in the House of Representatives no considerable number of Republicans so much as proposed a bill to reduce taxes The House bill is framed, not only to relieve the treasury but to relieve the people, while the Senate is framed not to relieve the treasury and to increase the burdens of the people and after all, that is the difference between the bills

Mr Hiscock then obtained the floor and the bill went over till to-morrow After a short executive session the Senate adjourned

House

The following bill was introduced and referred appropriating $300,000 to suppress infection in the inter state commerce of the United States

Mr Mason, of Illinois, asked unanimous consent to discharge the Committee on Banking and Currency from the further consideration of the resolution offered by him some months ago, calling for an investigation of the allegations that National Banks to which public money has been loaned, have been solicited for contributions to the Democratic campaign fund

A demand for the regular orders by Mr McMillin operated as an objection

The Senate joint resolution was passed, authorizing Brigadier General Absolon Baird to accept from the President of the French Republic, a diploma conferring the decoration of the National Order of the Legion of Honor

Mr Mellon, of Arkansas, representing the Public Lands Committee, was entitled to the floor, but yielded to Mr Wheeler, of Alabama, who addressed the House on the tariff question. At the conclusion of Mr. Wheeler's remarks, in which he criticised the Senate bill as being to the interest of monopolies and detrimental to the agricultural industry, the House adjourned.

AN EXPRESS HORSE THIEF

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 8. Joseph Burns, who was indicted a few years ago for embezzling a team at Easthampton, was arrested on his release from prison in Illinois last week and reached this city today. He was taken to the county House, where he pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to four years in the State Prison. A shorter sentence, he thinks, would be forfeiture enough. On his way out of Illinois he confessed to stealing a horse in Springfield, Illinois, and was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary. He escaped by jumping from a window in the court room. ## BLAINE IN THE CAMPAIGN.

His Cold Entirely Cured.

He Leaves Detroit for Grand Rapids.

A Splendid Speech at Grand Rapids.

What New England Says of the West and South.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 8 The Blaine party left by special train for Grand Rapids at 9 o'clock this morning In response to an inquiry Mr Blaine said that he now felt so entirely in speaking and has been advised by his physician that he is entirely cured of his cold.

Crowds Greet Him at Way Stations

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 8. At each station crowds had gathered, but until Howell was reached the train whirled through without stopping At Howell one hundred citizens assembled and a shout was sent up for Blaine. Mr Blaine at first objected to showing himself, but was finally persuaded upon to meet the crowd at the rear platform of the car. Grand Rapids was reached at 3 o'clock and a meeting held there.

Mr. Blaine at Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 8 Mr. Blaine was received by a large and enthusiastic crowd of people here this afternoon and a procession of uniformed clubs escorted him and party to the hotel A number of manufactories gave their employes a holiday and helped swell the throng to the depot and to Hartman's Hall where the speaking took place at 7 o'clock Mr Blaine paid especial attention to the statement attributed to Postmaster General Don M Dickinson, that the system of protection was devised for the benefit of New England, which with the rest of the East, gets all the advantage of it, while the West bears the burden Mr Blaine said he had been gathering statistics and found that New England takes between half a million and six hundred thousand tons of grain annually and raises only 4 per cent of what her people

Use for Woodlands.

Next, said Mr Blaine, there are annually raised in this country 300,000,000 pounds of wool We had only 60 000,000 pounds of wool grown annually by the farmers of the country when the free trade tariff was in operation, just before the war Under the effect of a protective tariff we have increased the amount of wool, grown almost wholly in the West, to 300,000,000 pounds annually, and it brings the vast aggregate of nearly $100 000,000 (Cheers)

In the farmers of the country President Cleveland recommends that the duty on that be repealed and that we shall put the wool grower of the West on the same plane as the wool grower of Australia and Canada The Republicans say No and New England takes every year half that entire wool crop and pays the West $45,000,000 a year for it (Cheers)

Besides as New England

needs breed, for which she pays the West twenty millions of dollars a year she needs also provisions which includes all forms of meat, and for that, and poultry in addition, imported from the West, New England pays the farmers of those West ern States $54,000,000 millions a year (Cheers) Moreover, the people of the East want some butter to operate on their bread, and they do not raise enough at home, (laughter and applause) and they pay the West over $2,000,000 a year for that Then New England needs a good deal of lumber hardwood had preferred, and there are not those States here from which she gets it Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota and

of western lumber, principally from Michigan Then of copper, and lead, and salt, and hides, and leather which are taken from the Western States, in the aggregate about $10 000,000 more, and like aggregate, you will observe, is well up to $100,000,000 This tariff tax of a New England, of which Mr Dickinson speaks contemptuously as only having four millions of people, this little bit of a frozen place on the northeast coast of the United States, takes $60 000,000 worth of cotton from the southern States, and goes down to Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia and of their products of coal iron and steel takes $40 000 000 more In the grand aggregate that little piece of country takes

More than $100,000,000 worth of material from the other states of the Union and in the grand exchange between the East and West makes trade profitable to both and then keeps the money at home instead of sending it beyond the sea The total value of products we sent to Old England, last year of all manufactured articles was $325,000 000 Now, gentlemen, if you want to know the value of a home market at your door is to be an exchange of industries and see what four millions of people engaged in the arts and industries of life can take from you at your door, and among your fellow citizens, as compared with forty millions beyond the sea

There was a procession of 4 000 torches this evening and three largely attended meetings in as many halls Mr Blaine reviewed the parade and briefly addressed one of the meetings
